GENERAL BEHAVIOR OF THE MEDIA

1. In accordance with the applicable regulations, no accredited person under these media rules may, under any circumstances, provide assistance to a competitor before, during, or after the race. Prohibited assistance includes - but is not limited to - sharing any route-related information or communication not officially provided by the rally organizers to the teams; transporting or supplying parts, fuel, or equipment on behalf of a team; or any other actions that may provide an unfair sporting advantage to a competitor.
2. Media personnel are strictly prohibited from touching any competing vehicle or assisting competitors in any form, including carrying items for them or providing access to any devices such as computers, tablets, or smartphones.
3. Violations of these rules may result not only in the withdrawal of media accreditation but could also lead to the disqualification of the competitor involved.
4. All media representatives must conduct themselves respectfully towards authorities, local residents, competitors, officials, fellow media members, sponsors, and all stakeholders involved in the event. Any breach of this conduct may result in the loss of media accreditation.
5. Respect for the environment is mandatory. All media personnel are expected to act responsibly. Waste must be disposed of in the designated collection areas, and recyclable materials should be sorted according to the guidelines. Please ensure your workspace, particularly in the media room, is kept clean and orderly before leaving.
6. Failure to comply with any of these guidelines may result in sanctions, including the revocation of vehicle access to the bivouac or the complete withdrawal of accreditation.
